Family Resource Center offers advocacy to provide services to help in reducing trauma and facilitating a better understanding of the criminal justice system. This may include explanations about court procedures, aid in applying for compensation, courtroom tours, support, escort, transportation and information relating to the criminal justice system and how it works.

Education programs are offered about domestic violence and sexual violence to schools and community groups, churches and civic groups and other interested organizations. Staff will speak to organizations seeking to learn more about domestic or sexual violence. Primary prevention education sessions are offered for schools. Call 276-625-0219 for more information.
